Cash Medical Support

What is cash medical support?

Oregon law requires that every child support order include a provision for medical support. If neither parent has access to healthcare for their children, cash medical support may be ordered. Cash medical support is the additional amount a parent is ordered to pay to help with the cost of health care coverage by the other parent or to help with the uninsured medical expenses of the child.

How is Cash Medical Support Treated for ERDC, SNAP and TANF?

ERDC: Counted

SNAP: Counted unless it is being used for a specific medical cost. Proof if NOT needed of the medical cost.

TANF: Excluded

How can you determine when a child support case has cash medical attached?

When viewing SMU1, there is a field to indicate cash medical support is attached. If the field is blank, there is not cash medical support attached to the court order. If the field has an amount in it, cash medical is attached and the amount listed is the portion of the order allocated for cash medical.

How do you determine how much of the payment is cash medical and how much is regular child support?

The breakdown of the payment can be accessed on SMR1. To access SMR1:

1. From SMU1, press home.
2. Over SMU1, type SMR1
3. At the end of the case line, type in the sequence number and press enter.
