Celebrating 25 years of the Americans with Disabilities Act

July 26th marked the 25th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). For people with disabilities, this is a fundamental civil rights law. The ADA prohibits discrimination against people with disabilities in employment, schools, transportation, and public and private places open to the general public. Whether it is curb cut outs in city sidewalks, assistive technology in the workplace, or the rise of home and community based services as alternatives to institutional long term care, the ADA has transformed public life in its 25 year history.

DHS celebrated the anniversary with a resource fair and program of speakers and performers on July 23rd at the Barbara Roberts Human Services Building in Salem. There were also breakout sessions on topics including the history of the disability rights movement, mental health, assistive technology, service animals, and emergency preparedness. More than 20 organizations, agencies, and DHS and OHA units participated in the event.

As APD Director Mike McCormick wrote in his July Q&A message, “[In APD], we see first-hand the positive effect this law has made on people’s lives. Supporting people in the least restrictive manner possible is the bedrock of our vision.”

To learn more and to access information about the ADA, see the US Department of Justice’s Information and Technical Assistance website. For information about ADA accommodations at DHS, see the Office of Equity and Multicultural Services’ ADA Accommodations website.

Did you notice if you sent a notice?

Many times in our work, we have one customer waiting for us and another on the phone just while we are finishing up that last thing! It is very easy to forget where we left off or whether we hit F9. Take a breath.

When we are doing negative actions, many errors come from doing a negative action and sending an invalid notice or none at all. We can't reduce, close, or deny benefits without a notice. We all know that, but sometimes we forget in the heat of the moment. Here are some quick tips to jog your memory:

Closing benefits: FSMIS never sends out closure notices for us even if we enter a notice code in the notice field; that's on us. If you are sending a APD 540, DHS 456 or another manual notice, you must keep a copy in the file ; APD/AAA will be able to scan customer information in to EDMS this fall! It's part of the action record. If it is not there, it didn't happen by review standards.

Denying benefits: You can use the notice code on FCAS screen but choose wisely, grasshopper. There are a lot of OLD cheat sheets out there. Be sure you have the most up to date version from Policy and take a moment to double check the notice is the actual one which fits the situation. It is important we tell the customer why their application was denied and the information provided is accurate. Again, if you send your notification manually, for your paper files – or scanned files when we're able to save the files electronically.

Approving benefits: Yes, it happens. Some customers never get an approval notice. When a worker uses CRT or REC action on a case and saves, and goes in afterwards and does an ADJ or SRS action, the approval notice is suppressed.

Basic rule, if you are approving, don't do anything else to the case that day other than issue the benefits. If a mistake is made and you need to fix it, be sure to use a REC action. That way you will ensure your customer is notified they are approved and when their certification starts and ends.

148 hints for success

When sending in an MSC 148 to the Client Maintenance Unit (CMU), please remember to:

- Make sure dates entered in the Medical eligibility begin date and the Medical eligibility end date columns reflect only the dates eligibility needs to be added or changed;
- If the new eligibility will be ongoing, enter 2299 as the end date;
- Enter all case descriptors for the new eligibility time period, even if they are currently listed on the case;
 - For instance: If you leave off the SBI, MMIS changes the BMD line into a BMH line.

Thank you for your efforts to get the information correct on the first try!

From the June TTT meeting, CMU presentation.

Don't forget! When you transfer a case out of the area, be sure to appropriately update the address and the FIPS on the medical case so the customer can see a doctor in their new CCO location. Please see DMAP-IM-15-008 for guidance on changing the FIPS code for adults.

Disability Benefits Liaison program - Our first six months

The Disability Benefits Liaison (DBL) program started as a pilot program in August of 2014 and rolled out statewide on January 29, 2015. Disability Analysts (DA) in the Collaborative Disability Determination Unit (CDDU) work throughout the state, assisting and providing lay representation to APD/AAA consumers applying for Social Security disability and SSI.

Many of these cases have resulted in favorable decisions at the initial level. If a consumer isn't successful at the initial level, DAs are available to appeal unfavorable decisions and even appear at hearings before federal Administrative Law Judges when necessary. DBL services are available to individuals who have been found to have a disability by PMDDT, even if they have later moved over to MAGI medical. This assistance enables consumers to fulfill the Medicaid program requirement to pursue assets.

Successful outcomes from the DBL program have included substantial back awards to customers, ongoing monthly income, reduction in room and board costs, and moving some customers from Medicaid to Medicare programs. DBL services are not available to customers who already have attorneys and all customers can hire an attorney at any time if they so choose. CDDU staff is experienced in the area of Social Security disability through their work at PMDDT. In its first full six months, the DBL program has seen two customers receive lump sum awards that exceed $30,000.

If you have a consumer who may fit the criteria for the DBL program, please contact managers Brian Kirk 503-373-0271 or Marcy Mee 503-373-0775, or contact our mainline at 1-866-535-8431.

Faxing 7210s – Don't do it!

If you or someone in your office is still faxing 7210s* to OHP for processing, here's what happens to them: NOTHING.

No one is looking at faxed 7210s, the DOR is not protected, the app is not processed or logged – it's basically just a waste of a cover sheet. Please stop doing this ASAP!

Staff who call to check on the status on an app they faxed will be told to resubmit the application following the current, correct ACA procedures and the customer will have a DOR of the date the app is resubmitted.

Hoarding as a Fair Housing issue: Beyond reality TV

Elizabeth Gray, FHCO Intake Specialist, Fair Housing Council of Oregon

A fire or ambulance crew can't safely respond to a medical emergency in a single family home because the resident has belongings stacked up to the ceiling and blocking many windows or doors.

A tenant living in an apartment faces eviction when he or she fails to pass a follow-up inspection after several warnings about lease violations related to items which create a tripping hazard, fire danger, or limit access to maintenance staff; the tenant then contacts their case manager in a panic.

*Sonya and Jake -
Joan Crane, Gresham*

These are just two examples of possible complications in housing settings which could impact housing providers. Hoarding is distinct from simply building a collection, which is usually displayed with pride, or letting a few days of dishes and laundry pile up when life gets busy. A person who has been diagnosed with hoarding has a disability under the Fair Housing Act. Hoarding has been added to the DSM-5, the latest version of the American Psychiatric Association's classification and diagnostic tool, and is now recognized as diagnosable condition independent of other mental health conditions.

The Fair Housing Council of Oregon (FHCO) had received a few calls about potential hoarding situations by the time an invitation came in the spring of 2013 to participate in a collaborative Multnomah County conversation about the issue. Two graduate social work students serving as interns in the Multnomah County Office of Aging and Disability Services convened various agencies to meet for a "community assessment." Attendees have included representatives of several nonprofit and for-profit housing providers, Aging and Disability and Adult Protective Services, Legal Aid, Animal Control, and Assessments and Tax. This Hoarding Task Force has continued to meet regularly, researching resources and bringing in experts to assist in coordinating services and developing best practices and is now beginning the process of staffing cases and developing a more formal protocol. The good news is there are new cognitive behavioral therapy models which can be successful in treating hoarding.

Since hoarding disorder is a disability under the Fair Housing Act, these individuals have the right to request a reasonable accommodation (RA) from a housing provider. This might include things such as providing an agreed upon length of time to bring in a professional cleaner/organizer to help clear pathways, reduce pile heights, or clear materials in front of heating vents. More will probably be needed than a single deep clean. There may be several steps to the RA request, prioritizing the most immediate safety needs and then allowing a more gradual timeline for reducing other clutter, in conjunction with a professional organizer or mental health provider.

As with any RA request, housing providers need to evaluate the request and the verification of disability and respond in a timely manner. Housing providers are always well-advised to review the legal reasons for denial, consult with a fair housing attorney, document the rationale for their decision, and feel comfortable defending it if a complaint/case follows when making a decision on a RA request. As always, regardless of the request made or what the disability is, if a denial is made, HUD says a conversation should ensue about what would work for the individual with the disability.

Milwaukie introduces meditation to relieve stress

John Henry Crippen, manager in the Milwaukie APD office, recognized his staff were under a lot of pressure and decided to help them. After a little research, he came up with the following unique idea to share with his staff:

“We are all likely familiar with the concept of “Person Centered Care”, the idea that our clients and their specific needs and choices are at the center of their services and individualized care plan. Well I think we are also all aware the person who is helping to coordinate that (you) can get overwhelmed with the multitude of situations and responsibilities that come as part of this duty.

To meet this need, John Henry Crippen offered to facilitate (not lead) some brief and regular meditation sessions in his office, which he called “Centered Person Care”. The meditation sessions are completely secular and will occur during typical break periods for folks; they are 100% optional and voluntary and are 10-12 minutes in duration. This is NOT guided meditation, and the only thing he will be doing is shutting the conference room door, getting it started, and gently letting people know when the time is up.

Here is a link to an info graphic which contains some basic information about the scientific benefits of meditation, with citations. Here is a great introductory video (about 6 minutes), which I insist that you view at least one time on your own time or on break prior to the first time you join the meditation group.

The BARE BONES instructions for a 12 minute mediation session:

- Sit up straight;
- Notice your breath where it is strongest in your body and bring all your attention and focus directly to it;
- When you mind goes sideways and takes you away from this focus: begin again, and then again, and again.... don't be discouraged when your mind wanders, just begin again and bring it back to your breath.

Jax - Jodi West
LaGrande

[This is much more challenging than it sounds, but is a very rewarding experience].”

So far, he has received very positive feedback about this great idea!

Thank you to Gene Sundet and John Henry Crippen for sharing this great idea!

Estate recovery questions

Estates Administration Unit (EAU) receives many calls from customers, families, and case managers looking for answers to questions about estate recovery. EAU provides accurate information on many topics such as making a voluntary repayment for past assistance, what is expected when a recipient dies, or the estate recovery process in general.

Some questions may be simple. What should I do now? When will someone contact me? Others may be more complex. What if there is a surviving spouse or a disabled or minor child? What about property transfers or “jointly owned” assets?

Just like case managers, EAU is unable to give legal or financial advice. Additionally, any questions regarding eligibility are referred back to case managers or local branch offices.

If you or your customers have questions about estate recovery, please call our main line at 503-378-2884 or send an email to estate.admin@state.or.us.

More NVRA Q&A

Here are more questions and answers about the National Voter Registration Act (NVRA) procedures. If you have a question, contact Karen Kaino by phone, 503-569-7034, email: karen.l.kaino@state.or.us, or IM.

Q: One of our staff came back from TTT and said we no longer have to do name changes – true?

A: So TRUE! Thanks to help from SSP, the Secretary of State Elections office has decided staff no longer has to offer voter registration for name changes. For most APD and AAA staff, this is not significantly impactful like it is for SSP, but one less thing is always good!

Q: I heard a rumor from we only have to report once a month – true?

A: So FALSE! Staff is still required to report weekly and the Secretary of State has changed their requirements to reflect weekly reporting. The only difference is how the SEL 504 report is sent it – it is now via a web form (see page 6). APD-AR-15-048

Q: I remember from training being told I didn't have to offer OPI customers voter registration – is that still true?

A: If your person ONLY receives Oregon Project Independence (OPI) and no other benefit through us, then yes, it is still true that they are outside of the voter registration requirements. If, however, they or another member of their household receive a benefit in addition to OPI, you do have to offer voter registration. Having one person with OPI in the home does not exempt you from responsibility from everyone else.

BTW – persons who receive only Older Americans Act (OAA) benefits or only home delivered meals are also exempt from voter registration requirements.

Q: I was told by someone in my office there was a change and I only have to fill out a declination if someone completes the voter registration card in the office. Is that true?

A: No, no – a thousand times no! (feel the drama?) If you didn't hear about a change from me directly in some format, your information is probably false and the person who told you could be confused. All NVRA changes are in the newsletters and you are always welcome to check with me before implementing an unexpected change in procedure.

Fiona - Janice Driver, Gresham

Every person MUST have a completed declination EVERY time they apply, or reapply for any benefits (except OPI and OAA), or change their mailing, or physical address if they have a legal status and are age 17 or older. No exceptions – regardless of how they request or apply for benefits or report an address change, if they say yes or no, where they do it, in what language it occurs, how they report, or how often they report a change or request a reassessment or a benefit. Everybody, every time - that's the law.

Q: We have a HCW who is reportedly attempting to influence the customer to register and to vote in a certain way. What do I do?

A: If true, that is very bad, and possibly illegal. If you discover this, even if it is just a rumor, please report it to me and to the Medicaid Long-Term Care Policy Unit, specifically Chris Ellis: christopher.m.ellis@state.or.us. Send as much info as you have about who is involved and why you think it is happening – Central Office will take it from there.

Q: Do you care when we have a back-up coordinator for voter registration?

A: I care deeply! If you have someone who is assigned the task of backing up the site coordinator for voter registration, please send me a completed MSC 503C, NVRA Site Coordinator Change Form. In the space for previous coordinator just type “no change”. If there are staff who assist with voter registration if the site coordinator is out but aren't actually a designated back-up, we do not need a form.

More training changes coming!

Look for more changes in the near future to APD/AAA training with the future addition of Employed Persons with Disabilities and DD & Mental Health Eligibility joining the computer based training line-up.

Each topic will have multiple modules (4-6) to cover the entire course.

Don't forget! If the 7210 application you submit for a customer is incomplete or illegible when the email is opened, it cannot be processed. The 5503 leads will do the best they can, but remember - if you can't read it, they can't read it and it will be sent back to you for clarification of the information they could not read.

Pre Admission and Resident Review Level II (PASRR II)

Hello all! I'm Jeb Oliver, the new PASRR level II coordinator for the State of Oregon. I'll be working specifically with consumers who have intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD) going into nursing facilities. For the last couple years I've worked as a case manager in Eastern Oregon for Aging and People with Disabilities. I was the lead APD Worker for the closure of Vista Specialty Care in La Grande under the Quality and Efficiency Incentive Program last summer. Before my time with APD, I worked with the Veterans Benefits Administration in Portland.

Jeb Oliver (tank not included with site visit)

PASRR was mandated by Congress as part of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987. The purpose of PASRR is to prevent the placement of individuals with mental illness or intellectual or developmental disabilities in a nursing facility unless their medical needs require nursing facility level of care.

I'm currently reviewing both new and old cases under the PASRR umbrella to see if consumers with I/DD indicators meet nursing facility level care. You may be getting notices sent to you, your consumers, and their families indicating they do not meet nursing facility level care.

The notice SDS 841 covers the process for consumers to request an administrative review of the PASRR II decisions. Please guide our consumers and their families to the back pages of this notice or place them in contact with myself: Jeb.s.oliver@state.or.us, 503-947-5247 (desk) or 503-620-3262 (cell).

Since the PASRR II process is outside the normal service eligibility process it can often be confusing. Please don't hesitate to give me a call or write me an email. The goal is not to burden you with more work but to make sure our consumers receive the least restrictive level of care. Thank you and please let me know what I can do to assist.

Jeb S. Oliver, PASRR Level II Coordinator

HCBS surveys

As part of the Home and Community-Based Services (HCBS) Transition Plan, surveys are scheduled to be sent to community-based care providers (AFH, ALF, and RCF) and individuals on Medicaid residing in those settings in August. These surveys are focused on the how well providers currently meet the new HCBS quality expectations. We are aware when information goes out from Central Office to the provider network or individuals we serve, questions come to the local office. We wanted to alert you to this planned activity. 2015 White House Conference on Aging

Seniors, advocates, and agencies raise one voice on senior issues

Last May the Governor's Commission on Senior Services (GCSS) and partners hosted the Oregon White House Conference on Aging in Lebanon, OR. This was a regional event held ahead of the national White House Conference on Aging which took place in Washington, D.C. on July 13. The goal of the event was to give Oregonians from throughout the state an opportunity to weigh-in on the four topic areas covered at the national event: healthy aging, elder justice, retirement security, and long-term services and supports.

Our Lebanon event saw 200 participants from across the state in various sectors and practices, including advocates, caregivers, older adults, healthcare professionals, local policy makers, and nonprofit representatives. The discussion was robust and exciting, leaving participants with a sense of contribution by giving them a say in the process and the direction of the state. The National Director of the White House Conference on Aging, Nora Super, gave the opening keynote address followed by a series of panel discussions featuring local and regional experts. Treasurer Ted Wheeler and others spoke over the lunch break, and the afternoon was spent gathering input and recommendations from attendees.

Milestones reached on the LTCR

- January Long-Term Care Registry (LTCR) enrollment begins;
- April 24th arrives with over 20,000 registrants approved;
- July 20th first Road trip to demo the Registry to LCOG;
- August 10th over 40,000 Registrants and the count keeps growing;
- Tomorrow?? The Registry shows up at your doorstep.

Together we have accomplished much in the first eight months of the Long-Term Care Registry (LTCR) to make it a success. The opportunity to come together was such a blessing for all of us at BCU when able to offer the training Optimizing the Long Term Care Registry with Lane Council of Governments last month. Our team worked through some tough questions, gained insights and left feeling like we had made new friends.

We hope to share a similar experience with many of you along the way as the Registry grows and matures. We share the same commitment and compassion of helping others, but this is especially evident when change occurs. LCOG, for example, brought us together and gave us the feedback we needed to provide additional supports, modified letters for easier understanding by QEIs, and follow up with educational materials for QEIs to utilize the concepts taught in class.

For training opportunities and ways to connect with the Registry, please contact Dale Jackson, Registry Coordinator at 503-378-8974 or email BCU.LTCR@state.or.us.
